

Travel by plane to Portugal Coimbra City

»»»» From Airport of Oporto

If you chose to travel to Portugal directly through the Airport of Oporto please have in mind that although this Airport is closer to Coimbra (130km) but it may have less connecting flights to most international centres.

From the airport, which lies to the north of the town, you have to go to the Town Centre, to the “CAMPANHÃ” train station by taxi or you can take the surface metro (subway). The subway stops just in front of the Airport. You should take the Line E (Violeta or purple Line). This trip takes about 33 minutes (Single travel ticket, Zona 4). Subway works from 06h00 till 01h30.

We suggest that you travel from Oporto to Coimbra By train (recommended):

In CAMPANHÃ train station you’ll find the ticket office for the ALFA train (full name is Alfa Pendular) or IC (Intercidades) train. Hourly trains connect Oporto and Lisbon (except at night), and they all stop in Coimbra.

By ALFA train it takes one hour to travel to Coimbra (Comfort Class or Touristic Class); By IC train it takes up to two hours, but it’s cheaper. You can check the train time schedule here.

»»»» Airport of Lisbon

This Airport is 200 km from Coimbra but it has more connecting flights from most international centres.

Once you’re in Lisbon airport you should go to Estação do Oriente (Oriente Gare) by underground train. The Airport Metro Station operates from 06:30 to 01:00. By taxi (it’s quite close and it should be around 10 Euros - extra 20% charge on weekends).

We suggest that you travel from Lisbon to Coimbra by bus or by train:

By bus: please check the Flixbus company: <https://global.flixbus.com/>.

By Train: In Gare do Oriente train station look for the ticket office, for the ALFA train (full name is Alfa Pendular) or IC (Intercidades) train.

Hourly trains connect Lisbon and Oporto (except at night), and they all stop in Coimbra. It takes less than 2 hours to reach Coimbra by ALFA trains and around 2:30 hours by IC train.

You can check the train time schedule/prices here.

When you arrive at Coimbra B Station, you may take another local train for the centre of the city but the best way to reach your Hotel directly is to pick a taxi at Coimbra B Station.
